

SNU-BioTalk 2024

Title of Symposium: Plant Biology in the Post Genomic Era: Strategies for Crops and Mankind

Date and Venue: 8th and 9th February 2024, SNU CAMPUS, KOLKATA

About: The National Symposium on Plant Biology in the Post-Genomic Era: Strategies for Crops and Mankind stands as a premier platform encompassing a diverse array of interactions, including talks, panel discussions, and poster sessions. This symposium unites distinguished researchers, experts, and scholars in plant biology to deliberate on the pressing need for discourse in the post-genomic era. Addressing the evolving landscape of genomic advancements, the event focuses on three critical thrust areas: Cell Morphogenesis and Development, Stress Biology, and Translational Approaches. Through in-depth discussions in these areas, participants engage in multifaceted dialogues, exchanging insights and strategies to propel sustainable agriculture and enhance humanity's well-being. By offering a robust platform for scientists, researchers, and students, the symposium strives to foster collaboration and innovation. The symposium emerges as a catalyst for collective efforts to chart a future where plant biology significantly contributes to the well-being of crops and mankind.
